Electronic Data Interchange

Good connections benefit everyone.
We connect the dots.

Electronic Data Interchange (EDI) allows for an automated electronic interchange of standardised business documents between you and the ERP system of KTR Systems GmbH. EDI replaces manual processes of the supply chain creating smooth electronic trading between buyer and supplier. EDI replaces classic paper documents by electronic documents.

This is how the electronic document interchange (EDI)
works.

Customer
ERP system

Orders in the customer file format

Converting the external file format into the EDI document is made fully automatically and without any manual intervention by the EDI converter.

Direct data transmission from one computer to another ensures high process reliability. Transmission errors by manual entry are avoided, since the process runs fully automatically.

What are the benefits of EDI?

Expedited order processes, data interchange within seconds, improved response times

Better process reliability by eliminating manual processing steps

Efficient data transmission

Individual options of connectivity
